GARAGE FIND

20-YEARS IN THE MAKING.

It was some time ago that the seed was planted and this story began, or so we thought.

You see back in this little old wooden garage with moss covering the roof and one of those heavy one piece doors that over time had swelled, it seemed like time had stood still for just on the other side lived this little 1967 RED Ford Ranchero 500, never having the opportunity to smell the burning rubber from its spinning tires.

No instead its tires lost the will to hold air and, over time its cab was filled with bags of garbage, old car parts that didn't even belong to old Red.

We are not sure if this truck was bought for my father-in-law or his son of a ... brother-in-law for that's when the story really began some 20 years ago for unknown reasons this Ranchero just sat wondering " am I ever going to be set free".

Let's jump 20 years into the future now my in-laws have passed and their house going up for sale and yes the little old red Ranchero 500 for the first time in 20 years is getting a look at what has been lurking on just the other side of that old heavy rickety garage door.

Part two will air in the next issue of GARAGE FIND.
